4th Annual County Island Clean-Up

Supervisor Fulton Brock, District 1, initiated a collaboration with Sheriff Joe Arpaio, Tempe Mayor Hugh Hallman, The North Tempe Neighborhood Association and Keep Phoenix Beautiful. They just held their 4th annual clean up of the county island that borders Tempe , where the 202 Freeway and Rural intersect. Due to increased efforts on everyone's part, the area becomes easier to clean every year! The NO DUMPING signs posted by John Counts and MCDOT last year helped make a difference. The Sheriff's chain gang worked, as did many volunteers. Even Supervisor Brock rolled up his sleeves to pick up litter. District 1 Deputy Administrator, Peggy Allen, coordinates all the entities involved with the event every year.

Annual San Tan Clean-Up

Nearly 350 volunteers picked up litter from 50 miles surrounding the San Tan Mountain Regional Park area. Meanwhile, at the hazardous waste disposal site, citizens drove by non-stop to safely unload 55 tons of metal, 2,000 tires, over 200 refrigerators, 250 gallons of motor oil, 200 gallons of paint and 175 car batteries. Also, 6,500 pounds of computer and electrical equipment was recycled. All in all, 795 truckloads dumped 675 tons of garbage into a designated landfill.

The San Tan PRIDES* organize this annual clean-up to keep the community beautiful. Maricopa County Supervisor Fulton Brock and Pinal County Supervisor Sandie Smith assisted the effort by providing support services from their respective counties

Horseback Trail Ride for Homeless Children from Pappas School

For the second time this year, Supervisor Fulton Brock, District 1, held a horseback trail ride at San Tan Mountain Regional Park for homeless children from the Thomas J. Pappas School. The ever-efficient San Tan PRIDES once again did an excellent job in organizing this event. In addition to the trail ride, the children learned about desert animals, made crafts and ate lunch. The Maricopa County Parks and Recreation Department also participated.
